MOOT PROPOSITION

1. The diversity of the Republic of Indika is unique. Indika has retained its diversity from an ancient time to till date. Being a large country with large population, Indika presents endless varieties of physical features and cultural patterns. It is a land of diversity in race, religion, caste, language, landforms, flora, fauna and so on. In short, Indika is “the epitome of the world”. Indika is a country with large ethnic society and has immense wealth due to which it is rich in biodiversity comprising of both indigenous and ethnic people.
2. India consists of 68 million people, belonging to 227 ethnic groups and comprising of 573 tribal communities. These ethnic people mostly the indigenous tribals live close in the vicinity of forests and have managed and conserved the biodiversity of their localities since long time. They live in localities which are immensely rich in biodiversity. The most interesting feature associated with these indigenous and ethnic people has been found that they know how to live with harmony in nature. These ethnic and indigenous people have played a vital role in conservation of environmental management and development process as they possess traditional knowledge which has been useful in Eco-restoration. Indika is rich in traditional knowledge and has been identified as one of the countries with mega biodiversity.
3. The Zulu Tribe, the last descendants of the first humans, is a scheduled tribe in Indika. They came from Africa 70,000 years ago. Tucked away from the modernised world that we inhabit, lives a tribe whose survival depends entirely on nature, they have largely shunned interaction with outsiders, and many particulars of their society, culture and traditions are poorly understood. This Zulu Tribe has been identified by the Constitution of Indika as a Scheduled Tribe (ST). They live in parts of South Malgudi and Middle Malgudi Ghats, and their population is estimated at around 4000 individuals. The tribe's main source of livelihood and feeding comes from the fruit of poppy yew and the Malgudi wild pigs (Sus Scrofa Malgudinensis). The poppy yew plant which belongs to the shrub family, bears red fleshy fruits called the poppy fruit, the saps of which has medicinal properties, is a traditional knowledge of the Tribals.
4. The Malgudi Trunk Road, a road which cuts through the heart of the Zulu Tribe's home was planned in 1990s and by 2000 was open for travellers. There were violent protests from the Zulu Tribe's community when the road was being constructed. Many members of Zulu Tribe were electrocuted while the road was being constructed. The tribals being vulnerable to outside diseases to which they have little or no immunity, in 1997 and 1999, suffered outbreaks of influenza that had wiped out many of them following contact with outsiders.

5. The continuous deaths of the tribals brought many protest by social activist. After a long legal battle, the Supreme Court of Indika ordered the local government to restrict the usage of the road subject to following conditions :
- Government vehicles carrying essential commodities would be allowed to use the trunk road between 6:00 am to 8:00 pm;
 - Tourist are allowed to travel through the road between 8:00 am to 6:00 pm and only with the prior permission of the Government in the Government vehicle provided that they should not stop near the settlement of Zulu Tribe, or interact with them along the trunk road.
6. Mr. Ojel, a scientist in The Oreo Biotech Company Limited (hereinafter called as OBT Co. Ltd), a leading global pharmaceutical company, dedicated to high quality and branded medicines, along with his wife Mrs. Ojel went on a short trip to Malgudi Ghats. Enroute to North Malgudi, Mrs. Ojel was bitten by a Redback Spider, which is part of the species of highly venomous spiders. The tribals, on hearing the cry for help by Mrs. Ojel, administered saps from a plant poppy yew, which cured the poison of the Spider bite. Mr. Ojel, curious about this plant asked the tribals about this plant, but they ignored him. Mr. Ojel discreetly acquires some samples of the plant for research purposes.
7. Mr. Ojel after returning back to his office in OBT Co. Ltd., conducted a series of research about the healing properties of the plant poppy yew. He finds out that, the saps of poppy yew has great medicinal properties. It has effective anti-viral and powerful anti-bacterial qualities, it purifies the blood, prevents damages caused by free radicals in the body, removes toxins, and treats insect bites and ulcers. It destroys the bacteria that causes infections, and encourages rapid healing. Mr. Ojel was amazed by its powerful way of curing any ailment. Mr. Ojel presented this information to his company OBT Co. Ltd. concerning the rich traditional knowledge of the tribals and their way of life. OBT Co. Ltd. in response to Mr. Ojel, devices a plan to be able to acquire enough poppy yew plants for their research.
8. OBT Co. Ltd. conducts their research and finds out that there is a particular species of an animal called the Malgudi wild pig that are being hunted by the Zulu Tribe because it is their main source of protein, thereby making it an endangered animal. For the protection of this endangered animal, OBT Co. Ltd. approaches the State Government with a proposal for the construction and maintenance of a sanctuary as a part of their CSR. The State Government, satisfied by the proposal declares through a notification, part of the Ghats as sanctuary under the Wildlife Protection Act, 1972. After publication of the notification, the collector inquires and grants clearance to OBT Co. Ltd. for the construction and maintenance of the sanctuary. During the construction of the sanctuary, a part of it was encroaching the land of the tribals thereby affecting their livelihood. The tribals reacted to the construction of the sanctuary negatively and tried to stop it, but all their efforts were ignored by OBT Co. Ltd. which led to the eviction of the tribals from that particular area.

9. Meanwhile OBT Co. Ltd. acquired enough poppy yew plants for their research. The saps of the poppy yew plant were then used in the orchestration of a drug. The drug created was named “Avalox-400” to which clinical trials were conducted for and patent was acquired by OBT Co. Ltd.
10. Situated in the foothills of Vanagiri, Adipura lies in the heart of Indika. It's known for its great industrial development in cotton mills and textile business but now it's famous for education and a prominent centre for business and economy. Adipura suddenly faced an outbreak of an unknown disease due to which a lot of individuals were affected, and even death was caused to some due to this disease. The Government in an urgent state ordered the Institute of Communicable Disease (hereinafter called ICD) to find out the root cause of this unknown disease. The ICD through its research found out that this disease was caused by BACTERIUM YERSINIA PESTIS that circulates among wild rodents, dwelling in great numbers and density. It was an epidemic of bubonic plague. The plague among humans arises when the rodents in human habitation, normally black rat, becomes infected. Normally it takes 10-14 days before plague has killed off most of the contaminated rat colony, making it difficult for great number of fleas gathered on the remaining but soon dying rats, to find new hosts. From the bite site, the contagion drains to a lymph node that consequently swells to form a painful bubo, most often in the groin, on the thigh, in the armpit or on the neck. The infection takes 3-5 days to incubate in people before they fall ill, and another 3-5 days before, in 80% of the cases, the victim dies. This disease was dubbed, the “Black Death”. ICD after numerous researches were unable to find a cure for the Black Death, and due to the urgency of the need of a cure, the Government requested all the medical institutions within its territory to try and come up with a cure as quickly as possible.
11. Mr. Ojel recommends the drug, Avalox-400 to OBT Co. Ltd. to try as a trial cure for the Black Death disease. The drug proved very effective in curing the Black Death, therefore leading to a great demand for the drug. OBT Co. Ltd. approached the State Bio-Diversity Board to grant permission for the mass production of Avalox-400 to meet the rising demand of the drug from various parts of the world.
12. The mass cutting of the poppy yew plants as well as the sanctuary for protection of Malgudi wild pigs lead to a great distress to Zulu Tribe, being the main source of livelihood for the tribe, led to starvation and in turn death of some of the tribal members. Florence International, (hereinafter known as FI) an organization that champions tribal people's rights filed a petition in the Supreme Court of Indika on behalf of Zulu Tribe for the violation of their right to life and also the livelihood of the tribals.
13. A census was conducted by the Office of the Registrar General and Census Commissioner in Indika on scheduled tribe in the country. The census report was submitted to the Ministry of Tribal Affairs who was concerned about the rapid reduction in the population of the Zulu Tribe. The Ministry of Tribal Affairs then sent out a team to find out and report back the root cause for the said decline of the Zulu Tribe. The team then returns with a report disclosing that a sanctuary constructed by a company called OBT Co. Ltd. for the protection of the Malgudi wild pigs, is restricting the tribals from hunting them, and the mass cutting of poppy yew plants for the production of the drug Avalox-400 had adversely affected the tribals. The Ministry of Tribal Affairs files a petition in the High Court of Malgudi, contending that the rights of the tribals under the Scheduled Tribes and other Traditional Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Act, 2006 has been violated by OBT Co. Ltd. through the construction of the sanctuary and the exploitation of the poppy yew plant. The High Court passed a decree in favour of OBT Co. Ltd. Aggrieved by this, the Ministry of Tribal Affairs files an appeal petition before the Supreme Court of Indika stating that the rights of the tribals have been gruesomely neglected.

14. Meanwhile, OBT Co. Ltd. received various request from pharmaceutical companies both national and international seeking license for the drug Avalox-400. OBT Co. Ltd. thus granted license to various numbers of companies both national and international.
15. Parry International Pharmaceutical Ltd. (Herein after known as PIP), in Indika had acquired a license for the distribution of the drug from OBT Co. Ltd. Consequently, after the license was granted, PIP started trying to make Avalox-400 through various reverse engineering methods in order to gain as much profit as possible due to the wide demand of the drug. OBT Co. Ltd., on finding out about this reverse engineering processes done by PIP decided and cancelled all licenses they had granted both nationally and internationally.
16. OBT Co. Ltd. files an infringement suit against PIP for violation of terms of patent license. In response to the suit, PIP files a counter suit before the High Court of Malgudi for revocation of patent on the ground that the knowledge regarding the drug was available within the indigenous community of Indika and thus, the invention cannot be patented.
17. 1.The Supreme Court of Indika Suo motto transfers the case from the High Court of Malgudi and combines with the remaining two cases for final hearing.
