INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE
CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM IN INDIA: EMERGING DIMENSIONS

27th JULY, SATURDAY, 2019

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

India is a social, democratic, republic governed by rule of law. The Constitution of India guarantees all citizen basic fundamental rights including equal treatment and protection of law. If law is equal for all, accordingly access to justice should be similarly available to all. Despite these robust constitutional protections, large sections of society particularly the marginalized groups face onerous burden to access legal protection. Today there is an access-to-justice “crisis” imperiling the country's legal system as access to courts is expensive, time-consuming, procedure-ridden, technical and difficult to comprehend which impedes poor and vulnerable people from approaching the same.

In the light of the above mentioned, this conference has the objective to delve, deliberate and to generate awareness amongst students of varied disciplines and the legal luminaries through criminal and correctional legal mechanisms, its impact and implications on the marginalized community and to discuss measures possible to resolve.
