About the theme

CHANGING DIMENSIONS OF LAW IN THE ERA OF DIGITAL TECHNOLOGY

The digital age has brought unprecedented comforts and conveniences to our daily lives, and it has changed the way we live and work. With the rapid growth of the internet, physical boundaries have become increasingly irrelevant, and digital technologies have become a cornerstone of our social and economic systems. The second machine age, as defined by Erik Brynjolfsson and McAfee, has brought about an explosion in human productivity, enabled by the computing power of computers.

However, with the growth of the digital world, comes the risk of new forms of cybercrime, online bullying, and threats to privacy and civil liberties. The digital era has challenged traditional laws and the principles of constitutionalism, and there is a growing need for new legal models that can accommodate the changes brought about by digital technology. Facts have proved that this novel phase of Internet governance deeply shake the current architecture of rights and freedoms. While these are all legitimate concerns, they are impossible to quantify.

In recognition of these challenges, the Law Society at the Department of Law at AMU Centre Malappuram, Kerala is proud to announce its second National Conference on the theme "Changing Dimensions of Law in the Era of Digital Technology". The conference will be held on April 18th, 2023, in hybrid mode, and will provide a platform for scholars, legal practitioners, and policymakers to engage in a critical examination of the challenges posed by the digital era and to explore new and innovative approaches to law in the digital age.
