ABOUT ODISHA HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION

The Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993, provides for the constitution of i) National Human Rights Commission (ii) State Human Rights Commissions (iii) Human Rights Courts. In pursuance of Section 21 of the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993, Odisha Human Rights commission was constituted on 27th January, 2000 and started functioning w.e.f. 11.07.2003, when Sri Justice D.P. Mohapatra joined as its first Hon'ble chairperson. Present chairman of the OHRC is Justice Satrughana Pujari. The Commission mainly enquires into violation of Human Rights by a public authority, namely; rights relating to life, liberty, equality and dignity of the individual guaranteed by the Constitution or embodied in the International Covenants and enforceable by Courts in India, and issues appropriate direction necessary for the protection of such rights.

ABOUT LITERARY & CULTURAL COMMITTEE

The Xavier Law School Literary and Cultural Committee (LCC) is a dynamic force dedicated to enhancing our institution's cultural and literary landscape. LCC promotes a love for literature, artistic exploration, and intellectual curiosity through workshops, seminars, debates, and artistic showcases. Its mission is to create a vibrant platform where words and culture thrive, fostering creativity, intellectual discourse, and cultural diversity. LCC's unwavering commitment paints the canvas of Xavier Law School with the vivid colors of creativity, blending culture and literature into a splendid symphony, guiding us to ever greater heights in the world of art and intellect.

HUMAN RIGHTS AND EMERGING ISSUES

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

We live in a world where change is the only constant. Everything around us is rapidly changing, and this is also true in the realm of Human rights. Human rights are not static; they are dynamic and adaptable principles that must evolve to address contemporary realities. As the world changes, the recognition and protection of human rights must evolve in tandem with the changing landscape. The conference title acknowledges the dynamic nature of human rights and the ongoing need to adapt to emerging issues.

The term "emerging issues" underscores the importance of addressing contemporary human rights challenges that may not have been as prominent in the past, but have come into light in the recent turnout of events. This title signals the relevance and timeliness of the conference by acknowledging that human rights discussions need to encompass the issues of today, not just those of the past. By focusing on "emerging issues," the seminar indicates a forward-looking approach to human rights discussions. It recognizes the need to anticipate and address future challenges and potential threats to human rights, promoting proactive and preventative measures.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

Human rights issues have historically been a focal point of discourse, but as societies evolve, so do the challenges they face. These issues can include developments in technology, changes in global politics, and evolving social norms. The broad theme involved in the conference topic not only will benefit the participants by providing knowledge and empowerment but also contributes to societal growth, policy improvements, and the advancement of human rights at both local and global levels. Further the ultimate purpose is to bring together the Researchers/Academicians/ Policy makers/Research Scholars/Foreign Delegates/Indian & Foreign Students, undertaking research within the broad theme of contemporary issues in Human Rights to provide a supportive and collaborative environment for the exchange of ideas. The conference is intended to provide chances and a forum for young academics to discourse and improve their research ideas, as well as to foster research partnerships and professional networks.

SCHEME OF THE CONFERENCE

The conference shall be held in Hybrid Mode to ensure more and pan India participation from people. The conference shall be divided into three technical sessions: The conference would commence with a session with distinguished speakers thereafter paper presentation would take place. Participants are invited not only for paper presentation but also for attending the enlightening session.
